PROJECTS

Yuan's Robos – Info465 (Senior Projects in Information Systems)   HTML, SQL, PHP, JS
- Located at https://info465.us/dyuan/
- This is an E-commerce website built with shop links to a main site, https://info465.us/2017Winter/. The site includes user authentication, a JS validated form that updates to a SQL database, pages that use SQL statements to search the database for commissions and submitted forms, and it was all built using vi in the command line (PuTTY).

C++ Programs – Info450 (Advanced Programming)   C++, Git, Visual Studio Code
- Located at https://github.com/davidy804/dy_info_450_spring_2020
- This repository includes C++ programs that include functions that calculate formulas, reverses strings, etc. Some programs include parent and child classes with virtual functions. A program that writes a text file with randomized integers and sorts them using a Makefile. A banking program that encapsulates C++.

Bug Hunters – Info451 (Advanced Tech for E-Business)   Angular, Node.js, Git
- Located at https://github.com/kiernanvd/Bug_Hunters
- This repository was a group effort between 4 others. This E-commerce website was built on Angular 6. It includes features like a cart, search bar, login, reviews, and products. I worked mostly on the cart, product list, and header. I worked closely with my teammates to ensure the services and routing was functional.
